NVCAN Standards of Acceptance

The variety of subjects in a newspaper's classified ad section is attractive to readers. These standards are designed to improve your ad's credibility and appeal. The Nevada Press Association or any NvCAN member newspaper will gladly work with you to develop a proper and effective ad.

The Nevada Press Association reserves the right to reject any ad for any reason; individual newspapers reserve the right to properly classify, edit or reject any advertising in compliance with local regulations and policies. The newspapers also reserve the right to typeset and produce the ads into their individual formats.

NvCAN may reject advertising if it appears to be false, misleading, fraudulent, libelous, defamatory, illegal or in poor taste, in objectionable format or for any other cause.

Advertising will be rejected if it is known or determined to discriminate based on age, race, color, national origin, religion, sex or marital status, and where other legal restrictions prevail.

Advertisers must be able to provide the name, street, city, state, zip code and phone number of the individual or organization submitting the ad.

Advertisers may be subject to credit or Better Business Bureau reference checks. NvCAN does not guarantee responses to any advertising.
